

Research and Development Scientist

Electrosynthesis Company, Inc. is a contract Research and Development Company specializing in electrochemical technologies. We are currently expanding and looking for a talented, motivated individual to join our Technology Team, located at our research facility in Lancaster, NY.

Applicants for the position should have a Ph.D. in electrochemistry or chemistry. Previous experience in electrochemical synthesis, electrocatalysis, energy storage systems, or membrane science would be advantageous. All applicants must be technically skilled, results orientated, creative, self-motivated and have good communication and computing skills.

Interested candidates may apply by e-mail to info@electrosynthesis.com or by mail to Human Resources, Electrosynthesis Company, Inc., 72 Ward Road, Lancaster, NY, 14086. No phone or agency calls please.

To find out more about Electrosynthesis visit www.electrosynthesis.com

Electrosynthesis is an equal opportunity employer.